Kindertransport

by Diane Samuels

February 25th - March 21st, 2010

Thursday - Saturday at 7:30 PM, Sundays at 2 PM

At Artists Repertory Theatre

Entrance 15th and Alder

Description

Between 1938 and the outbreak of the war, almost 10,000 children were sent by their parents from Germany to Britain to 'safety and security'. Most never saw their parents again. The cost of that 'safety and security' is portrayed in Diane Samuels' play Kindertransport.

Kindertransport weaves the story of 3 generations of women whose lives are intertwined when 9 year old Eva is sent from Germany to Manchester in 1938.

Post show conversations with special guests are an ever present feature of JTC programming and nightly talk backs are planned with guests:

Thursday, March 4 Edith Isenberg, Survivor

Friday, March 5 Kayse Jama, Somali Director of the Center for Intercultural Organizing

Saturday, March 6 Bertha M. Ferrán, Cuban Peter Pan child and PDC Commissioner

Sunday, March 7 Miriam Greenstein, OHRC Speakers Bureau

OREGON HOLOCAUST RESOURCE CENTER The Oregon Holocaust Resource Center (OHRC), an educational organization, applies the lessons of the Holocaust to teach the importance of promoting a just and humane society, which values respect and acceptance. As a not-for-profit, nonsectarian organization, the OHRC is dedicated to communicating the lessons of the Holocaust to teachers, students, and the general public in Oregon and SW Washington. This is in fulfillment of the legacy left by victims to survivors: To Remember, to Record, to Understand, to Explain, and to Enlighten Future Generations.

JTC encourages your support of OHRC programming. Tax-deductible contributions to Oregon Holocaust Resource Center 1953 NW Kearney, Portland, OR 97209
